STUDY RULES CAREFULLY TO MAKE TRAFFIC WEEK SUCCESS IN EVERY WAY

The Evening News Gives Outline of State Vehicle Act and Also Regulations of City Relative to Auto Traffic

In order to properly observe Safety Week in Glendale, August 10 to 16, proposed and sponsored by The Glendale Evening News, it is necessary for the public to have a complete understanding of the rules and regulations governing traffic in Glendale.

Everybody Takes Hold of News' Idea

The idea spread throughout the city. On August 4, The Glendale Evening News announced that Safety Week, under the direction of The Glendale Evening News, would have the co-operation of the Automobile Club of Southern California, the local auto dealers, merchants, city officials, realtors, churches, service clubs, theatres and citizens in general.

Read Rules and Regulations Carefully

But, it is necessary for the public to have a full understanding of the rules and regulations governing traffic in Glendale to properly observe Safety Week, and so The Glendale Evening News once more publishes the main features of the state vehicle act and also the main points in the ordinances as enforced by Glendale. Here they are, the first being from the state vehicle act:

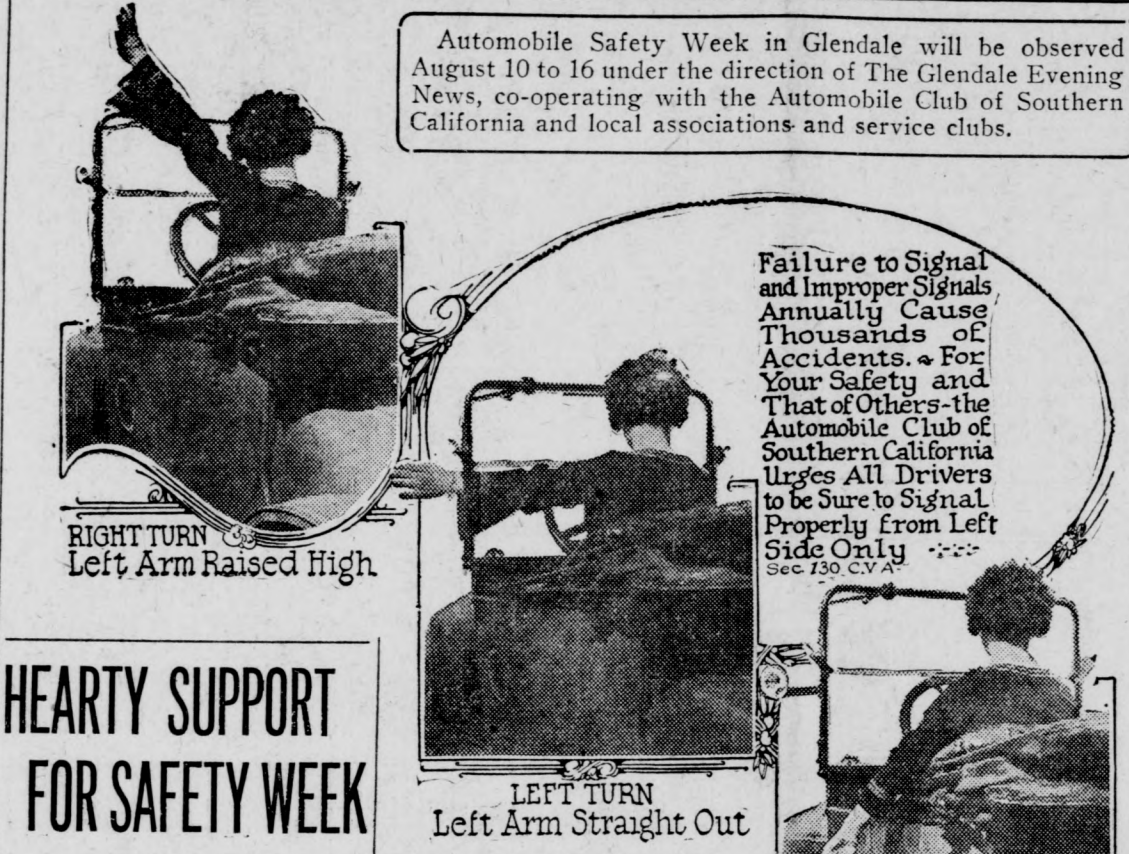

- 1. RIGHT OF WAY RULE—Vehicle on right has right of way, unless vehicle on left enters intersection first. Any vehicle exceeding speed limit forfeits right of way.
- 2. HAND AND ARM SIGNALS—Must be given from left side continuously during last fifty feet traveled before turning. Signal right turn—hand and arm extended upward beyond vehicle; signal left turn—hand and arm extended horizontally; stop signal—hand and arm pointed downward.
- 3. SPEED LAW—Never drive so fast as to endanger life or property; nor more than—
- 15 Miles Per Hour in business district, at obstructed intersections of streets or railway crossings, on obstructed curves, or in passing schools. 20 Miles Per Hour in residence districts. 35 Miles Per Hour elsewhere, day and night.
- 4. DRIVE ON RIGHT SIDE OF ROAD—All vehicles must keep close to right hand edge of curb except when overtaking and passing other vehicles. Motorists may drive on left side of road in overtaking another vehicle if left side is clear and unobstructed for a distance of 300 feet.
- 5. OVERTAKING AND PASSING—Give two feet clearance and sound horn if outside business or residence district.
- 6. TURNING AT INTERSECTIONS—In turning to right, keep close to right hand edge of curb or road. In turning to left, pass close to and around center button.
- 7. PARKING—Prohibited on highway outside of business or residence districts. Prohibited in front of driveway to public or private garage or within 15 feet of fire hydrant or entrance to fire station.
- 8. LOADS ON PASSENGER VEHICLES—Loads on running boards may not extend beyond line of hub caps on left side nor more than 6 inches beyond line of hub caps on right side.
- 9. FIRST AID AND INFORMATION—In case of accident, stop, give all necessary aid, take injured to physician; give your name and address.
- 10. REPORT ACCIDENTS—Motorists MUST report to Police Department accidents resulting in injury to or death of any person. These regulations became effective September 1, 1923, having been passed by the California legislature.

Police Chief Tells of Local Rules

The policy of the Glendale City Council has been to make as few local traffic ordinances as possible, relying on the police department to enforce the provisions of the California Motor Vehicle Act, declares John D. Fraser, chief of police. The above changes noted by the Automobile Club of Southern California have been supplemented only as follows:

- 3. SPEED LAW—Business and residential districts are posted. A speed of 35 miles an hour is permitted elsewhere. Allowance of 7 miles an hour is made by the police department in all cases, in order to cover a sudden "spurt" necessary to pass another car or get out of

HEARTY SUPPORT FOR SAFETY WEEK

Lyman P. Clark, Head of Auto Dealers, Endorses The News' Idea

"One of the biggest things in the history and advancement of Glendale," is the way Lyman P. Clark, president of the Glendale Automobile Dealers' Association, and general manager of the Glendale Motor Car company, characterizes the automobile Safety Week plan of The Glendale Evening News.

"Every member of the Glendale Automobile Dealers' association is anxious to assist in anything that will tend to lessen or eliminate the number of automobile accidents anywhere," Mr. Clark said today, "and when an opportunity is afforded to spread the good gospel of safety right here in our own city, we are for it and back of it strong."

"It will be one of the biggest things in the history of the city, and a great step in the advancement of Glendale. There are very few automobile accidents in Glendale, compared to cities of equal size, but if The Glendale Evening News, by reason of its automobile Safety Week plan, can cut down even the small number, it will be a great blessing to the citizens of Glendale."

DEALERS TO BAN USED CAR ABUSE

Change in Present Ordinance Will Be Sought by Association

The ordinance covering dealers who sell nothing but used cars were explained to the members of the Glendale Automobile Dealers' Association by Ray L. Morrow, city attorney, at the meeting held today noon at the Alley Inn. He said such dealers are required to report twice each week on the cars purchased by them, to hold each car five days before offering it for sale in order to allow the police department to check up on stolen cars, and to furnish the police with a description of the seller.

President Lyman P. Clark will appoint a committee to meet with Attorney Morrow to see if a new ordinance which would tend to eliminate irresponsible used car dealers and persons who have no established place of business beyond a vacant lot, can not be drafted and put into effect.

Lon Haddock, realtor, spoke on the question of fear and how it retarded the future development of Southern California.

EXPERIENCED EXECUTIVE SELECTED

Howard I. Wood of Oakland Is Chosen as Successor To E. E. Sanders

Howard I. Wood, of Oakland, has been chosen secretary of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, to succeed E. E. Sanders, who resigned recently to become manager of the Beverly Hills Chamber of Commerce. The selection of Mr. Wood as secretary was made by the members of the board of directors at an executive meeting held last night.

Valuable Experience

Mr. Wood has resided at Oakland one year, where he was western manager of the American School of Honesty, with home offices at Port Wayne, Ind. He has had considerable experience in Chamber of Commerce work, and spent eight years of his life in newspaper work.

In Newspaper Work

Prior to serving as manager of the Marinette Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Wood was sales manager for a large colonization company in northern Wisconsin and Michigan, serving in this capacity for six years. During the war, the company lent him to war work committees, and he served as director of publicity for all bond and stamp campaigns in Wisconsin, and also served as advertising agent in Wisconsin.

Read The Evening News

"It is a peculiar coincidence," Mr. Wood said today, "but five years ago some friends in Southern California sent a copy of The Glendale Evening News to myself and wife. After looking over it carefully, my wife remarked that she would like to live in Glendale. Three years ago we came to Southern California on a visit, mostly to look over Glendale as our future home city."

"We came back a year ago and intended to locate here, but I found that Oakland was a more central point for my work. Now, it will be the realization of our dreams of five years to live in Glendale."

Mrs. Wood's father and brother live in South Pasadena. Her brother, Joseph A. Andrew, is office secretary for the Merryman Fruit, Land & Lumber company, of Los Angeles, and her father, J. J. Andrews, is also associated with the company. They reside at 1543 Diamond avenue, South Pasadena.

Unanimously Chosen

"My wife, our daughter, 12 years old, and our son, 6 years old, will come to Glendale to make our home about the first of next month."

RAIN, WIND CAUSE OF SERIOUS LOSSES

Crops Gone and Homes In Ruins; Big Heat Wave Hits New York

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—With lowering skies threatening still further downpours today, rivers throughout the middle west were slowly rising to flood stage as a result of the heavy rains of the last three days. The streets of many cities were flooded.

Many sections of the country were littered with ruins wrought by excessive rainfall and cyclonic winds. Three were drowned at Fond du Lac and three children lost their lives in the swollen creeks about Milwaukee.

Damage to the territory in a radius of 200 miles of Chicago will run into millions.

Fond du Lac, Wis., reported the most serious condition. Damage there will reach half a million, while damage in the county will exceed a million. Seven inches of rain fell in three days, sweeping away concrete roads and railroad tracks.

Death Toll Eleven

Early this afternoon five more deaths were added to the storm and flood toll around Milwaukee, bringing the total to eleven.

As the day wore on, the situation in the upper Milwaukee river valley became more serious—the worst in its history. The river is rapidly rising. Residents of villages in the vicinity of Fond du Lac are fleeing their homes as continued heavy rains threaten dams between there and Campbellsport. Raging water has torn a gaping hole in the dam at Campbellsport. If it goes, all lower portions of Fond du Lac will be flooded.

Dam In Danger

The dam at Campbellsport, Wis., sixteen miles southeast of Fond du Lac, threatens to give way any minute today. Should this happen, the lower part of

Letter of Approval

Secretary Sanders was instructed to address a letter to A. T. Cowan, the publisher of The Glendale Evening News, conveying the approval of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and pledging their co-operation in making the week of August 10 to 16 as free from accidents as is humanly possible.

"I consider that the plan to conduct a Safety Week is one that is to be warmly commended," declared Vice-President D. H. Smith in presenting the motion to the board.

"The action of The Glendale Evening News in instituting Safety Week is one that deserves the support of every citizen of Glendale," said Director Fox, in presenting his motion that the board endorse the plan.

The letter to A. T. Cowan which Secretary Sanders was instructed to forward to The Glendale Evening News follows:

"A. T. Cowan, Publisher, 'Glendale Evening News,' Glendale, California."

The turtle that went missing from the yard of Herman Paine, Jr., 1018 Virginia Place, Glendale, a few days ago, and who bore on his shell the initials "H. P.", has been found and is now browsing contentedly on a varied vegetable diet at the home of Dr. Neil C. Trew, 2919 Waverly avenue, Los Angeles, just across the river in the Ivanhoe region.

This "H. P." turtle and his running mate, as he might be called, Old Joshua, broke out and went sashaying down the road a few days ago, but Joshua was caught on North Central avenue and was sent back home before he got very far.

The other turtle got as far as Glendale boulevard before he was picked up, and the owner can have him by calling at Dr. Trew's residence and establishing his claim to the animal.

Dr. Trew notified the officials of the Certified Laboratories Products, Inc., 1503 Gardena avenue, Glendale, of his find, when he came up here for a supply of materials needed in his profession, and the laboratory folks passed the word along to The Glendale Evening News.

CHECKED FROCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—A checked sports frock is easily one of the leading elements of wear at the fashionable resorts. The coloring is rather a relief from the gaudy color combinations of earlier in the summer.

Return From Journey, Find House Entered

Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Bellinger returned yesterday afternoon to their home at 820 North Brand boulevard, after a three-weeks' visit to Council Bluffs, Iowa, to find that the house had been completely ransacked by burglars during their absence. A report was made to the Glendale police department.

While no list of the stolen articles has yet been made out, Mrs. Bellinger states that practically all their clothes, furs and linens are missing. Chief John D. Fraser reports that the police are working on a fingerprint clue.

Auto Frame Factory To Work Night Force

CLEVELAND, Aug. 6.—The largest manufacturer of automobile frames here will install a night force shortly, indicating an increase in automobile production. This increase also is reflected among sheet steel makers manufacturers, who are running at 40 to 50 per cent of capacity.

Wisconsin's Hay Crop Promises Big Yield

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 6.—The Wisconsin hay crop will be exceptionally heavy this year with promise of a yield 24 per cent above 1923 and 11 per cent above the five-year average. Damp weather has retarded harvesting and has particularly affected the cut of alfalfa.

SEES PROSPERITY
ERA IN INDUSTRY

Reflect Price Gain In Farm
Products, All Grains,
Says J. H. Bolen

"The recent advance in the price of grains and farm products has started a wave of optimism throughout the middle west that presages an era of industrial prosperity throughout the entire country," declares James H. Bolen, of the firm of Sawyer & Bolen, 211 West Broadway, who has just returned to Glendale after a six weeks' trip through the middle west.

Mr. Bolen went east with his family to visit his old home at Grand Rapids, Mich., and he also visited the principal manufacturing cities in that region, especially those that are concerned mainly with the automobile industry. "Many of the big plants in the middle west," says Mr. Bolen, "are running on short time, and conditions back there are not nearly as favorable as they are in Southern California. Industrial stocks are following the upward trend of the grain market, and business in all lines is feeling the effects of the advance. Merchants who have been buying from hand to mouth are already replenishing their stocks and a heavy volume of buying is predicted in the immediate future, with its attendant improvement of business in every line.

Conditions Better
As showing the improvement that is already making itself felt on the coast, Mr. Bolen states that since his return last Friday he has sold two houses and that the building operations of his firm are showing increased activity.

One plumbing supply house in Los Angeles with which we deal, and that is one of the biggest in the country," says Mr. Bolen, "and whose crew of twenty-two estimators had been averaging ten new jobs a week up till two weeks ago, is now reporting an average for each man of five contracts a week, due, they declare, to the greater ease in securing financial accommodations to undertake building operations. Mr. Bolen quoted one of the leading economists in the country who spoke at a convention in Chicago while he was there, and who stated that the London reparations conference is bound to prove a success and that it will open an avenue for the disposal abroad of a vast amount of American products, thus bringing a period of prosperity that has never been exceeded, even in the days of the World war.

Woman Is Injured as Cars Crash at Corner

Mrs. E. B. Dailey of 7922 Crockett street, Los Angeles, suffered minor injuries at 10:45 o'clock last night when her car, driven by A. F. Dailey, was in collision at the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway with a car driven by D. B. Randolph of 128 South Maryland avenue, Glendale. The accident reports filed by both parties at police headquarters show that the Dailey car was proceeding south on Glendale avenue, while the Randolph car was going west on Broadway. Both cars were somewhat damaged.

GREEN HOSIERY

NEW YORK, Aug. 6. — Pale green hosiery is decidedly popular just now, perhaps because of its fresh, sea-water hue as contrasted with dusty urban streets. It is worn only with white shoes.

Forty Acre Sub-division
West Of Glendale To Be
Home Of New Industries

A subdivision of forty acres lying just west of the Southern Pacific tracks, bounded on the north by the extension of Salem street, on the south by the extension of Broadway, and on the west by the proposed new truck highway, to be known as the Glendale Industrial Tract, will be placed on the market within the next two weeks through the office of T. W. Watson, realtor, 708 East Broadway.

In making this announcement, which he considers will be regarded by business men and investors as one of the most significant industrial developments of the year for Glendale and the surrounding territory, Mr. Watson states that the Southern Pacific is already at work putting in two drill tracks that will total 3000 feet and involve an expenditure of $25,000.

Railroad Facilities
These drill tracks go squarely through the Glendale Industrial sites that will be offered to prospective manufacturers and investors, according to Mr. Watson, who states that negotiations with the Southern Pacific officials to obtain these tracks were conducted through C. R. Smurr, industrial agent for the railroad.

Mr. Smurr and other Southern Pacific officials are enthusiastic about the industrial possibilities offered by the Glendale Industrial tract, declares Mr. Watson, and have demonstrated their enthusiasm in the most concrete way possible, by the investment of $25,000 in the project, which has for its object the development in that location, just one and one-half miles from the business center of Glendale, and highly organized industrial district.

To Bring Payrolls
Such a district, when fully developed, would bring to this city hundreds of high-class, highly trained and specialized workers. Mr. Watson points out, men of education and principle, the better sort of American citizens that mean so much to the development of a city.

The payroll brought to Glendale by this army of well paid industrial workers would enrich local merchants and stimulate every trade and business, he believes, and particularly would it stimulate home building.

The Glendale Industrial tract is no new idea, states Mr. Watson. It has been in process of preparation for the market for a year or more, during which time every detail concerned with the successful operation of industries within the tract has been worked out. Not only is this subdivision to be served by two drill tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad, with spurs to every site where they are required, but every site will be wired for electricity and piped for natural gas, water and crude oil.

Plan Restrictions
The sites will have an average frontage of fifty feet and an average area of 12,250 feet. Mr. Watson states they will be placed on the market on very liberal terms and at prices comparing favorably with those of any industrial tract in the Los Angeles metropolitan area.

The tract plan has been approved by the Los Angeles Planning commission, he states, and although it is located in that section of Los Angeles known as the heavy industrial zone, which permits all kinds of industries, "those of an objectionable character will be prevented from locating by clauses in the deeds."

The Glendale Industrial tract was for forty years owned by the Peverley family, well known Southern California pioneers. It was purchased from George and Charles Peverley by a syndicate comprising T. W. Watson, Harry E. Hall and Harry G. MacBain, of Glendale; and W. L. Tracy and William Campbell of Hollywood. Edward M. Lynch of Glendale, with offices in Los Angeles, handled the engineering features for the syndicate.

Realty Business Is Better, Akers Claims

"Business is good and getting better" is the verdict of J. L. Akers, of the Akers Realty company, 412 East Broadway, in the new postoffice building. On Monday of this week, this firm turned sales amounting to $34,000. The properties sold were lot 27, block 1, Ayers tract, South Brand boulevard, for a consideration of $18,000, to J. E. Jones and H. C. Jones; North Brand boulevard lot in Thompson tract for a consideration of $10,000 to E. J. Ullrich, who also purchased a stucco residence on Winchester road for $6000, bringing the total for Monday to $34,000.

This firm has adopted a motto of service plus, and it seems to have a winning effect. Right prices and a complete listing of all classes of property enables this company to give its patrons quick and efficient service. Every property listing is inspected and none are shown prospective buyers that do not measure up to the Akers standard of value.

Glendale Fire Chief
And Men Attend Meet

Enthusiastic over the first day's session of the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs' convention now assembled at the Maryland hotel, Pasadena, Chief A. H. Lankford of the Glendale fire department left this morning to attend today's meeting. He was joined at 1 o'clock by Captain Ralph Dodsword of Station No. 1 and his shift of men, who went over to inspect the exhibits of new apparatus that is one of the features of the convention.

The 300 delegates enjoyed a barbecue luncheon this noon at Brookside park, Pasadena. A ball game between the Fresno and the Pasadena teams will be the outstanding event of the afternoon. Chief Lankford and Captain Dodsword are both planning to see this game.

The morning session was occupied with the reading of papers by chiefs from various cities in the states west of the Rocky mountains. Among the topics taken up were fire prevention, fire fighting, training and upkeep.

Tomorrow the delegates will venture to the top of Mt. Wilson by auto stage.

Attorneys to Pass on Sewer Bonds' Legality

Certified copies of the procedure to date in Glendale and Los Angeles have been furnished bond attorneys who are passing on the legality of the sewer bonds, and as soon as their opinion is received, the sewer bonds will be advertised for sale, it was announced after a meeting of the Sewer Advisory committee today, held at the City Hall. Members of the committee present were: Herman Nelson, chairman, Alexander Mitchell, W. L. Truitt and Bert Woodward.

The necessary ordinances have been passed by Glendale and Los Angeles, City Attorney Ray L. Morrow told the members of the committee, and are now in process of publication. A favorable opinion from the bond attorneys would enable the city to advertise the sale of the bonds within the next two or three weeks, City Attorney Morrow said.

VILLAGES ARE HEALTHY

According to examinations made by school medical inspectors of New York state during 1922-23, 47 per cent of the children living in cities, 48.9 per cent of those living in villages, and only 27.4 per cent of those living in rural districts are physically normal.

S. O. S. Stands for

M. A. Cerf, formerly of Glendale, now living in Hollywood, heartily congratulates The Glendale Evening News for sponsoring "Safety Week" in Glendale. Mr. Cerf, who has just returned from a visit in Chicago, states that there they are stressing safety and the big slogan seen everywhere is expressed in the letters "S. O. S." standing for "Safety Or Sorrow."

Adventist Mission Fund
From Pacific Conference
$158,431 In Six Months

Members of the local Seventh-day Adventist church have just received a report from B. M. Emerson, treasurer of the Pacific Union Conference of the denomination, to the effect that during the first six months of 1924, the members of the union contributed a total of $158,431.49 for the advancement of foreign missions.

This is the largest amount that has ever been given to foreign missions by the members of the Pacific Union Conference during the same length of time, the average per member being a trifle short of 39 cents a week.

From Four States
The local conferences in the union include five in the state of California, and those in Utah, Nevada and Arizona. All of this money, according to Mr. Emerson, was given through what is known as the 60-Cent-a-Week Fund that has been adopted by the denomination, and it has been forwarded to the Foreign Mission board in Washington, D. C., for use across the seas.

Mr. Emerson informs the local members that the denomination is now supporting missionaries in 114 different countries of the world, and that plans are now being made to send a large number of additional workers to answer some of the many calls that have been received for gospel workers in lands where little or nothing is known about Christianity.

Missionaries to Sail
The local members were glad to learn that a company of twenty-four missionaries and a number of children will sail from Vancouver on August 14. Some of them will go to China, some to Japan, and some to the Philippine Islands.

Members of the church on the Pacific coast were happy to learn that the money they are contributing through the 60-Cent-a-Week Fund is being used to support the thousands of workers who are now out in foreign lands, and also will help to send others across the seas.

The Adventists have adopted for their slogan, "The gospel to all the world in this generation," and the local members say that they are happy to contribute weekly offerings through a systematic channel for the advancement of this work. It was said that the Adventists gave more liberally, according to their membership.

BOY SCOUTS HOLD
COURT OF HONOR

Awards Made to Members of Various Troops; Change
Date of Meeting

The Verdugo Hills Council, Boy Scouts of America, is to hold a court of honor once a month in the future, meeting the second Tuesday night of each month in the City Hall on East Broadway, it was announced last night at the court of honor.

Another important change made in the court system is that the court is to be composed of one representative from the directing board of each troop. Members of the court are to present awards to boys from their individual troops, so there will be a great pride felt by the troops having the most boys deserving of recognition by the court.

Preceding the court last night there was a meeting of the district examining board, at which final examinations were given for first, second and merit badge ranks.

Members of Court
Capt. W. C. Wattles presided over the court, and sitting with him were Major C. L. Wyman of Troop 2; Chalmers Day, Troop 4; J. W. Andree, Troop 8; Carl A. Burkholder, Troop 6; A. J. Lockwood, Troop 12; William Hunter, Troop 9; H. S. Schumacher, Troop 11.

Featuring the awards was the honor of Star Scout received by Lyman Bosseman. This is next to the highest honor in Scouting. Lyman also received a life scout badge.

Second class awards were made to James Rames, Robert Cory, Lockwood Frost, John Mixter, Robert Vickery, Edward Dodd of Troop 2; Bill Hall of Troop 8; Dale Gowdy, George Franklin, Kenneth Davis, Paul Green and Carmon Smith of Troop 12; Richard Albert of Troop 5; Edgar Kelley of Troop 2; Stanley Lowry of Troop 15.

COOLIDGE KNOWS NO SWERVING

Clean government, honest, efficient government, is the only kind of government President Coolidge knows. In the eighteen offices he filled before he became vice president, he gave outstanding proof of his purposes and his integrity. Since he has been president, he has shown equal resolution to eschew cheap politics and to make the government clean and honest and strong.

The character of the appointments an executive makes is an accurate index of what he has in mind. Harlan F. Stone, the new Attorney-general, already has given proof that prosecutions will proceed without fear or favor and that "influence" counts for nothing with him.

The selection of Judge Curtis D. Wilbur from our state for a seat in the cabinet is convincing to all Californians that uprightness and worthy ideals actuate the president. The prompt removal of a high federal official in this state is emphatic testimony that administration of the law must be properly conducted.

Malefactors of great wealth are finding no refuge in the Coolidge administration. The big men caught in the oil scandals are under prosecution. Price-fixing by the oil monopoly also has been vigorously attacked.

If you want to know what the president will do in a particular situation, find what is written in the law books to be his duty to do. From what is set forth there he knows no swerving. And those whom he is appointing to office are of the same caliber. There can be no compromise with dishonesty, no yielding when the statutes have been violated.

It is such unbending personalities that are the salvation of government. It is such character of authority that "gives the people the kind of government they think they are getting." False pretense, cunning and political chicanery are wholly absent in the Coolidge scheme. They are so foreign to his personality that he wouldn't know how to act if he attempted them.

In all the offices he held in Massachusetts no one ever ventured to approach Coolidge in the great political game of "fix-it." It was too apparent that his personality would recoil from such suggestion.

That inexorable adherence to and respect for the law, that rock-like determination to uphold it honestly and diligently, may prove to be Calvin Coolidge's greatest contribution to a nation that has become slack. The stern object lessons of Coolidge in striking at disrespect for the government and its laws are timely and imperative.

There is no "hookum." There are no demonstrative preachments, no vociferous professions. But, in a quiet, hard-working, resolute way, President Coolidge is making his purposes clear.

THE ILLITERACY PROBLEM

We have a wonderful school system in the United States, and we are justly proud of it. Schooling is free, and the poorest child, in theory, has educational opportunities undreamed of except by the very rich a few years ago. But, with the announcement that there are 5,000,000 confessed illiterates in the United States, and perhaps as many more who have not been reached or who are ashamed to admit their illiteracy, we must pause and think. We cannot blame immigration entirely for this condition, for most of our illiterates are native-born. It is common knowledge that we make better provision for foreign born illiterates than for our own.

Our school privileges should be extended equally and impartially to all. It is deplorable that some have so many advantages and others few or none at all. Would it not be better to make sure, first of all, that every child in the state, and every adult, too, should have the opportunity to learn reading and writing and the rudiments of arithmetic? With this basis an individual can educate himself. But, without the ability to read and write, one is cut off from the world as completely as if he were behind prison walls. Many a man and woman with the most elementary education as a foundation has acquired learning that made him or her of inestimable value to the world.

Then, when everyone has been given a chance to learn to read and write, we can use our school funds as much further as they will reach in adding other subjects that mean so much to our culture and the advancement of our civilization.

Illiteracy means poverty and disease. The man who cannot read or write seeks the most menial of work, for almost any kind of a job requires at least an elementary education. He cannot read instructions, warning or danger signs, and so he keeps to himself. He doesn't travel, and he doesn't buy newspapers, magazines or books. He learns nothing about sanitation or disease prevention, for this kind of information comes usually by way of the printed word. He has no way of learning anything except from his associates, and they, of course, are as ignorant as he.

Illiteracy is a symbol of injustice, and it is a menace to our country. These illiterates, many of them, are voters, and, while no great number of them would seek to use their franchise of their own free will, they offer a fertile field for the agitator and the demagogue in politics.

CAMPAIGN PLEDGES

It is often amusing when party platforms and campaign speeches contain so many promises of reform for the good of the people when the candidates, even if elected, will have no power to bring about such reforms. It is right and good to look into a man's morals before electing him to office, but so much is sometimes made of the fact that a man is "wet" or "dry" when, in the office which he seeks, he will have no more authority to change the prohibition laws than the most humble citizen.

If La Follette is elected president he is going to bring the government back to the control of the people—a pretty large order. If the government is not under the control of the people, and many of us think it is not, there is no one man can bring it back. Only the majority of the people can do that, and they do not need to be elected to office to do so.

Fairy Story: Once upon a time there was a great war and all the munition manufacturers occupied the front line trenches.

If we'd eat a little less and walk a little more we'd live a little longer.

Some live round and short while others live slim and long.

When you eat a square meal walk a square mile.

NO SCARCITY OF SUITORS

Russian Socialism

By DR. FRANK CRANE

In all our talk of the recognition of Russia it must not be forgotten that a recognition of the Soviet government is tantamount to a belief in the doctrines totally opposed to democracy.

That government represents the control, by the laboring classes, of the state, not by the ballot, but by force. It must not be forgotten that the Soviet government rests upon its army and not upon the suffrages of its citizens. The Bolsheviks remain a minority of their country. Russia is governed by a minority and a minority government is totally opposed to Anglo-American instincts.

Our democracy may be bad and imperfect, but at least it is the kind of government we want. It represents a government by a majority of the people. We have only to go out and convince a majority of our fellow citizens in order to change that government when we consider it to be wrong.

An acknowledgment of the Russian state by us would give them a right to have a consul in every city and that consulate would not alone be for the protection of the Russian citizens of the place, and of Russian interests there, but it would be the center of propaganda of Russian ideas.

It must not be forgotten that with Russians their theory of government is tantamount to religion. It is believed in with all the ferociousness and fanaticism of a creed. They think their mission is to convert the world.

That condition of prosperity in the United States and other countries which is due to the sanctity of property, and to the laws which govern property, is labeled by them "Capitalism."

This they regard as their chief enemy and as an enemy to the people of the state.

We, on the contrary, know that there is no prosperity without capital and our laws should be framed so as to encourage thrift and the laying up of capital in order to develop further industries.

It will thus be seen that the theory of government among the Russians and in the United States is diametrically opposed. This does not mean that they are not at liberty to advance their ideas freely. They are. They are free to publish and to speak what they think, but we are quite sure that the common sense of our people will reject any system of Communism or Socialism. What we want is not less capital but more of it, more widely distributed and more available.

The Ravings Of a Grouch

Some people regard illness as a visitation of Providence when it is only the result of their own gluttony and laziness. Intemperance in any thing is bound to result in trouble and overeating is no exception to the rule. I am very much in favor of the prohibition of the liquor traffic and know all about the evil effects of alcohol on the human system but I must confess that I have had acquaintances who were temperate in their indulgence in liquor and who did not suffer such dire consequences as those who over-eat.

There was a time when a man or woman could suffer the results of indulging their animal appetites (unless it were in the matter of drinking) and still be respected members of society; more than that, they had the sympathy of their friends. But people are beginning to look at this matter in its true light; they are beginning to see that there is no excuse for half the illness in the world; that if people misuse their bodies disaster is the result.

Moderation in eating and a reasonable amount of exercise are necessary to long life and to usefulness and efficiency. The man or woman who is suffering from indigestion or from disease brought on by abuse of the stomach cannot give his best efforts to any work, nor can the one who is overburdened with flesh. Sawing wood and sweeping are both recommended as good forms of exercise but of course are to be avoided by those who are opposed to work.

Many people think they have weak stomachs when in reality their digestive organs are unusually strong, stronger than they are themselves. The stomach dictates and the individual has not the will power to resist and so obeys the commands of this most important organ.

Some give undue attention to what they shall eat, what they can eat, what they like and do not like. Thinking too much about the stomach is another sign of weakness, both of the stomach and of the will. Eating is not the most important thing in life, so why give it all our attention? Of course after the stomach has been abused and overworked and worn out it may be necessary to use considerable care in its treatment.

Geo. F. Orgibet's Experiences Cover Wide Field In Chosen Industry

"A prophet is not without honor or save in his own country," so spoke the wisest of men—and we believe there are many in Glendale who might share in this honor were they brought to the attention of our good citizenship. Notably in this class is George F. Orgibet, of the Orgibet Printery, located at 106 South Maryland street, who for thirty-six years has been directly and indirectly connected with newspaper work and printing and knows these industries from Alpha to Omega.

Mr. Orgibet's association with large corporations in different great cities of the United States has given him a wealth of rare experience which not only qualifies him to direct his own business affairs, but his excellent judgment with reference to political, civic and municipal issues is of inestimable value to our community and his location in Glendale doubtless is heralded with a great degree of delight.

The community publicity feature of "Open—Come In—Trade in Glendale," which is in evidence in every business house in Glendale, is the gratis work of Mr. Orgibet and is only a small expression of his real interest in community development.

In addition to the regular run of printing, Mr. Orgibet is making an especial representation of exclusive Christmas greeting cards, which are growing in popularity each season, and is doing an enormous business in this line.

Outdoor School for Children Wins Pupils

Mrs. Burkey of La Crescenta, who announced through the columns of The Glendale Evening News, the opening of an outdoor school for children, has already met with success. Her advertisement appeared the middle of July in The Evening News. Immediately she had application from three families in Los Angeles and she reports the children delighted with their surroundings and enjoying their school work and play.

The three Los Angeles children are Billie Lewis, Wardlaw Handley and Ruth de Carufel.

TO FASTEN WATCH

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The rectangular, jeweled watch that so many women are wearing at present is not hung on an ordinary chain. It swings at the end of a string of pearls, which is given a peculiar effect by a fastening to the gown, on the back, a little to the left.

A war memorial tower at Loughborough, England, will house a chime of fifty bells, the largest one weighing four tons.

The "Bus" is still the typical means of passenger transportation in London, the motor having replaced the old-time horse.

DEATH LURKS IN OFFICIAL'S MAIL

Laboratory Specimens Sent To Health Department From All Parts

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—In a statement declaring that the duties of his office recently have involved risks equivalent to those faced by the official taster in a medieval royal family, E. B. Camper, assistant secretary of the State Board of Health, has appealed to Californians to exercise greater discretion in the selection and manner of shipment of laboratory specimens.

Poisoned foods, deadly vipers, leprosy rats and infected carcasses are all part of the daily mail, said Camper, and in many cases there is nothing to signify that the package is dangerous until it is unwrapped.

"Physicians and others mailing specimens to the board for examination should mark the contents of the package on the outside," asserted Camper, "so that we may be prepared for the dangers that lurk within."

Camper declared that every employee in the office is suffering from "nerves" and that frequent protests have been filed by the express and postal carriers.

CANADIAN MINES MENACE U.S. LEAD

America, In Second Place, Is Challenged by Output Of Neighbor

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Canada by 1926 will displace the United States as second among the gold producing countries of the world, in the opinion of Louis D. Hunt, New York mining engineer and a former professor of mining and metallurgy in Yale university. Canada is now third, Africa ranking first.

Hunt, after a prolonged study of the Dominion's gold districts, reports his conclusions in the official journal of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Canada's output, he says, is increasing rapidly, while in the United States since 1915, there has been a rapid decline. For the last eleven years the United States has produced 18.7 per cent of the world's production, the past year's total, now established at $51,000,000, being about 50 per cent of that for 1915.

Autos Will Race 150 Miles on Dirt Track

SYRACUSE, Aug. 6.—For the first time in the history of automobile racing in America a race of 150 miles over a dirt track will be staged when the world's greatest drivers meet in a contest at the New York state fair on September 13. A total of $15,000 will be divided in prizes among the winners.

Rev. Edmonds Expresses Appreciation Of Service Given By Evening News

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, pastor of the Glendale Presbyterian church and general chairman of the committee of arrangements for the Synods of Arizona and California, which met in Glendale during July, expresses his appreciation of the service rendered by The Glendale Evening News and states that the Synod voted its appreciation, also. Rev. Edmonds' letter to The Glendale Evening News follows:

Editor The Evening News—The Synods of Arizona and California, assembled in Glendale July 24-31, will go down in history as the greatest—greatest in enrollment (over 1200), greatest in speakers (leaders in the Christian world), greatest in co-operation (Glendale in general did all that was required, and more), greatest in influence (national and international church papers will be complimenting Glendale as host to the Synod of 1924); and last but not least, The Glendale Evening News rendered a GREAT service in opening its columns without limit. Never was a Synod more generously and genuinely treated by a newspaper. The Synod, by a vote, recorded its appreciation. The local committees also express, without solicitation, their very great feeling of indebtedness.

Very truly yours,

REV. W. E. EDMONDS,

General Chairman, Committee of Arrangements.

a situation, and so that the possibility of an error may not operate against the motorist.

5 OVERTAKING AND PASSING—While the state law applies here as elsewhere, the charge of reckless driving can always be brought when a motorist risks life or property in order to pass another car.

6 TURNING AT INTERSECTIONS—Where buttons are placed in the street, motorists must go around them or be subject to arrest. The police department has endeavored to use good judgment in placing them, the sole idea being to prevent accidents.

7 PARKING—A city ordinance prohibits double parking and regulates the parking angle and duration of parking. In the business section the time limit is one hour, during the hours from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night, except on Sundays and holidays. Motorists may not park within twenty-five feet of the corner on any street in the city. This is to allow motorists to make close turns, thus cutting down accidents and speeding up traffic. No parking is permitted in alleys, which are reserved for loading and unloading.

10 REPORT ACCIDENTS—A city ordinance compels motorists to report all accidents within the city limits, whether or not anyone is injured or killed.

All other provisions of the California Motor Vehicle Act apply in Glendale without supplementary regulations, Chief Fraser states.

Santa Cruz Prepares For Legion Sessions

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—Santa Cruz American Legion members and citizens are ready to welcome the largest gathering of ex-service men and women that has ever attended a state convocation at the annual convention to be held in Santa Cruz, August 4 to 7.

State Adjutant James K. Fisk has returned from the surt city and reports that "adequate preparations are being made to handle the convention and ample provision is being made for the care of every convention visitor."

A tiny particle of dust in the eye of an express engineer is said to have caused a recent railroad wreck in Europe.

Tourists May Visit Kilauea Volcano Now

HONOLULU, Aug. 6.—All restrictions as to the conduct of visitors at Hawaii national park, in which Kilauea volcano is situated, have been removed by Thomas Boles, park superintendent. Tourists may wander as they please about the region, except that they must keep away from the pit of Halemaumau itself. While Boles believes that the explosive eruptive stage which has been in evidence at the volcano for the last six weeks is over, he has said that "e will not permit visitors to look into the crater proper for some time."

Navy's Needs

ADMIRAL ROBERT E. COONTZ stirred up a sensation by his report that the American navy is falling behind that of other great sea powers.

The report made by Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, to Congress, disclosing the startling deficiency of the navy, is expected to precipitate a preparedness fight in both houses of Congress. Huge increase in appropriations is considered necessary to bring the navy up to conformity with the 5-5-3 ratio fixed by the disarmament conference.

LIGHT RAYS ARE SIFTED BY DUST

German Invention Employs New Feature In Making Movies by Radio

MUNICH, Aug. 6.—A thin aluminum plate, prepared with a special variety of "dust" which is said to possess the quality of "sifting" light rays, is the heart of a new German invention for transmitting "radio movies."

The device was developed by Joseph Boehm, Munich mechanical engineer, who claims to have made successful tests of the apparatus over a distance of eighteen kilometers and who has applied for a patent.

After the rays are filtered through the "dust" they are converted into modulated current and broadcast through an antennae. The device is said to be capable of reproducing an entire scene from life on a screen some distance from where it is picked up by the lens of the sending mechanism.

Aged Indian Recalls Century of History

YOSEMITE, Aug. 6.—Living in a typical Indian tepee not far from Camp Curry, is "Indian Lucy," oldest Indian in Yosemite valley and one of the oldest, if not the oldest, women in the world.

"Lucy" is 120 years old, and, although she no longer walks and is disinclined to meet tourists, is in full possession of all other faculties. "Pete" Hilliard, direct descendant of the historically famous Chief Temeya, greatest chieftain of the Yosemite tribe, says she can remember clearly events of 100 years ago.

"Lucy" was living in Yosemite when the first white men made their entrance. Hilliard and other Indians take food to the aged squaw every day, although she no longer eats very much.

Boy, 11, Owns Estate Of Over $2,000,000

HONOLULU, Aug. 26.—An opinion handed down by the Territorial Supreme court sustains the action of the Tax Appeal court of the Third Division in fixing the value of the huge Parker ranch on the island of Hawaii at $2,136,437, as against the tax assessor's valuation of $2,550,000. The ranch, which comprises a holding of thousands of acres of rolling lands midway between the slopes of Mauna Kea and Mauna Lea, Hawaii's two gigantic volcanoes, is the property of Richard Parker Smart, 11-year-old lad, who now makes his home in California, but who comes yearly to the Territory to inspect his birthright.

Prospector Hunting For Mine He Spurred

SANTA MARIA, Aug. 6.—Said to be the oldest known prospector, John Lancaster, 90 an original "49er," is today searching for the El Dorado, traces of which he accidentally found twenty-five years ago, in the Big Pine country and which, because of his then youthful wanderlust, he did not take the trouble to discover.

Today, with a golden sample of the quartz, which, experts claim, assays hundreds of dollars to the ton, Lancaster is hiking, with three burros, across the San Rafael mountains in search of his fortune.

New Discoveries Are Made In Blood Tests

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Remarkable and far-reaching discoveries about the human blood have been made as a result of recent researches, according to scientific authorities.

It is stated that tests initiated shortly after the world war have conclusively proved that the human race is divided into, roughly, four main blood groups, and that this discovery will have a very important bearing on blood transfusion, an operation which is becoming more and more frequent in cases of dire necessity.

Scientists also believe that the new discovery may throw fresh light on the ancestry of man and will also possibly have some bearing on the proving or disproving of legitimacy.

Pays Twenty Bottles Of Beer for Spouse

BERNE, Aug. 6.—A good wife is worth more than ten bottles of beer.

Therefore when a Rumanian peasant named Tamas, at a village fete at Territet, offered to sell his young wife for ten bottles of beer, another peasant, protesting that the price was too low, raised the ante to twenty bottles. The deal was concluded in the presence of eight witnesses.

When the purchaser came to claim the "purchase," however, an irate mother chased him away. Tamas and his wife, who considered the transaction binding, have taken the case to court.

Bus Line Operating Without Permit, Claim

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 6.—The Pacific Electric Railway company has filed complaint with the State Railroad commission against A. M. King, William Brierschott, DeWitt Brady and A. B. Detrick, operating under the name of the Twin City Realty board, alleging that defendants have been operating auto busses between Los Angeles and Culver City and Palms, without having obtained from the commission a certificate authorizing them to do so as provided for under the statutes.

It is requested that the commission compel defendants to discontinue such unauthorized transportation business.

PLAN AIR BASE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Conferences were being held in Los Angeles today to make plans for a new navy air base to be located at Terminal Island. Lieutenant-Commander G. C. Richman of San Diego, who is here regarding the new base, said construction work will start about September 1.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Mrs. H.—It seems to me to be an unnatural thing to take sand, even if it is clean, for stomach trouble. However, because a thing does not seem natural is not always an argument against it. For instance, we might say that it is not natural for us to live in houses and wear clothes, but it is pretty comfortable. If you have stomach trouble you should have a diagnosis made. If there is constipation, eat coarse vegetables, fruits and bran and take proper exercise. (We have an article on Constipation which you may have by enclosing a s.a.s.e. with your request.) About the sand treatment again. Don't try it. There certainly would be possibilities of scratching the intestinal tract, with resultant inflammatory conditions. The human stomach is not built like a chicken's gizzard.

"Dear Doctor Lulu: Let me inform you that I am a member of your reducing squad. I am a busy farm woman and haven't the time or strength to give myself sufficient attention, but I have managed to rid myself of thirty pounds. Now I can go upstairs without being all tuckered out and walk the half-mile to our country church, uphill part of the way, without puffing. What a grand, glorious feeling!"

"I am 47 years old, five feet, four inches in height, and was 190 pounds wide. It isn't any cross not to eat too much, the satisfaction of living comfortably and feeling presentable so far outweighs it."

"Your diet is satisfying. I took a course some fifteen years ago, but I became anemic. Not so with your system. Thank you. You are a real missionary!"

"MRS. H. W. M." "The satisfaction of living comfortably and feeling presentable so far outweighs it." Isn't it the truth? It takes only one day of dieting to convince one of this. Are you an outsider and postponing the day when you join our wonderful squad? Send for our instructions on reducing (enclose a s.a.s.e. and four cents in stamps) and also ask for the article "It Won't Be Any Easier Tomorrow." Thank you, Mrs. M., for writing.

June—The harm in eating raw chopped beefsteak consists in eating live germs which may not be friendly; and if the steak should happen to be contaminated with tapeworm embryos you'll be very apt to have a t. w. guest. If my family were as fond of raw chopped beef as you say your family is—and I couldn't break 'em of it—I would get one of those hand magnifying glasses and inspect the meat very carefully each time. If it has any tapeworm embryos in it you will find tiny hardened specks which do not appear like the other tissues of the beef. It is called "measly" beef.

You do not say how tall you are, so I cannot judge if you are overweight at 160 pounds. Age does not count in adult weight. We do not allow for increased weight with increasing years any more, for we have found that the skin specialists and children's specialists usually have in their office equipment. The violet lamps you get in the drug stores do not give these ultra violet rays. Direct sunlight, that is, sunlight not filtered through glass and clothing, has these healing rays.

(We have an article on Acne which you may have by sending a s.a.s.e. with your request.)

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents

My Dear Follow-up:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one which must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name and evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s.a.s.e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Steele, son of Mrs. Cecilia Steele of Santa Cruz, claimed for his bride Miss Millie Park, daughter of Mrs. Park of Los Angeles. The ceremony was performed at 12:30 o'clock by Pastor C. E. Summer flowers, asparagus fern and honeysuckle vines were used in the decorations for the wedding. During the service the bride party stood before a bower of flowers and greenery.

Miss Park wore a crepe de chine in a delicate apricot color and carried sweet peas and roses. A similar gown in blue was worn by her twin sister, Miss Mary Park, who was the attending maid. J. N. Palmer of Glendale was best man.

After refreshments were served Mr. and Mrs. Steele left by motor for Visalia and Santa Cruz, where they will spend two weeks. Mr. Steele has ranch property in Tulare county, which he plans to visit during his trip.

STATE FOURTH IN CHILD MORTALITY

Santa Cruz Babies Have Best Chance to Survive of Any on West Coast

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 6.—California with an infant mortality rate of sixty-six per thousand is fourth among the states covered by the birth registration area, and babies born in Santa Cruz have a better chance for life than in any other city in the United States, with the exception of Winchester, Mass., which has the same rate of twenty-six deaths per thousand during the first year.

States holding a better record than California are all Pacific coast states. They are Washington, 51; Oregon, 53, and Minnesota, 62.

Los Angeles third seventy-two, ranks third among the ten largest cities in the country, and Pasadena, with thirty-seven, is first in lowness of infant mortality among cities of 50,000 to 100,000 population.

Alameda, with a ratio of forty deaths per thousand, and Berkeley, with forty-one, are near the head of the list.

The figures for this report were furnished by the United States bureau of the census and from state and local authorities.

Housekeeping

By LAURA A. KIRKMAN

SOME KNITTING AND CROCHET DIRECTIONS

verse blocks. Repeat these eight rows till there are thirty-six blocks, and drop color.

Border: Using white only, knit twenty ribs of plain knitting, increasing one stitch at each end of rib and bind off on wrong side. Work across other end in same way. On sides omit every eighth stitch, to keep the border from becoming too full, and sew up mitered corners. This blanket should measure 24 by 27 inches when completed. A large pink bow in one corner gives it a pretty finish.

Girls' Close School Hat: (Size about 12 or 14 years.) Buy three balls of ecru angora wool and two balls of brown angora wool. Use a steel crochet hook number one. Begin at center of crown with the ecru yarn. Chain two, then in the chain stitch first made work five single crochet. Second Round: Two single crochet in each stitch. Third Round: Two single crochet in first stitch, one single crochet in next two stitches, and repeat around in this way.

Continue in this way, always increasing five times in each round, always over the increases of the preceding round, till the work, from the center to end of a point, measures four and one half inches. Work even for two and one-half inches without increasing. In last two rounds it may be necessary to narrow occasionally to make the right head size.

Trim: Using the brown yarn, make one round of one single crochet in each stitch. Second Round: Increase in every seventh stitch around. Repeat these two rounds, then work without increasing till trim is two inches wide. Make a final round with double yarn, working it over wire. Fasten and break off. This little hat fits the head closely and has a narrow, slightly rolled-up brim.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Housekeeping" department, will be answered in time, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor.

OLD PENCIL MARKS

Pencil marks on a beach pole at Cape May, N. J., supposedly written June 28, 1879, have weathered the elements without fading, according to Frank Dugman there, who recently discovered the old pole when tearing down the tower of a beach bath house. The rains, sun and wind of forty-five years have hardly dimmed the writing, he says.

FIND IDEAL SITE FOR HOMES HERE

Newcomers Plan Bungalows In Patterson Park Neighborhood

The sale of two lots facing Patterson park, on which the new owners are already planning to erect modern bungalows to cost between $6000 and $7500 each, is reported by Barlow & Hoopes, 117 West Broadway, who sold to A. J. Schmidt of Oakland, Calif., and to Mrs. Alida Desroches of Wisconsin the two sites for a consideration of $7000. The prospects, says Frank Hoopes, were brought to the firm's office by an advertisement in The Glendale Evening News.

Mr. Schmidt and his wife a number of years ago, previous to their marriage, resided in Glendale when there was nothing but ranches here, later moving to Oakland. When Mrs. Desroches, who is a sister of Mrs. Schmidt, came from Wisconsin to seek a home in California, she and her friends found, they declare, the ideal California setting facing Patterson park and with the vista of the mountains spread before them.

Other sales reported by Barlow & Hoopes since the first of last week are two large lots on San Fernando road, sold for G. R. Miller, $35,000; two houses sold for Mrs. Mary Michel, 1302 Orange Grove avenue, for $8000; a house for Sawyer & Bolen, 21 West Broadway, for $6500; two lots for W. W. Welch, 422 East Harvard street, for $5500; a tract on San Fernando road for Charles F. Hahn, 1326 North Central avenue, for $6000; and a house on Burchett street for Charles Struck for $7000.

Chamber of Commerce Plan Of Advertising Endorsed By Experts on Publicity

The advertising carried on by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce during its campaign of last year and in the present campaign, so far as it has proceeded, was the subject of a discussion by advertising experts at the recent summer school at Stanford university, and the analysis to which it was subjected was a favorable one in every respect.

This was the report submitted to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce last night by Secretary E. F. Sanders, following his return from Palo Alto, where he attended the conference for commercial secretaries.

The policy adopted by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce advertising committee, he said, was also endorsed by the experts, who declared that national advertising campaigns, as conducted by cities, usually result in the expenditure of the advertising funds without any return that may be considered at all commensurate with the amount of money spent. Average Cost $11.35

It is better, they claimed, to permit the railroads and other big organizations to carry on their advertising campaigns to bring prospective settlers to California, when the advertising of the cities can be used as the deciding factor in determining the newcomers' choice of a location.

The average cost to the cities of California that have been carrying on advertising campaigns, was shown by accurate figures, was $11.35 for each inquiry received.

Following a conference with the city officials regarding the payment to the $5000 pledged by the city of Glendale to the advertising fund, Secretary Sanders presented bills for $4452.86 advertising expenses to City Attorney Ray L. Morrow and City Manager Virgil B. Stone.

City Cannot Pay
An opinion rendered by Attorney Morrow, however, stated that the city of Glendale could not legally pay any bills that it had not created, and he suggested that contracts be made by which the city would be directly responsible for $5000 worth of advertising in the media chosen by the Chamber of Commerce, which the Chamber of Commerce will act upon.

Director L. H. Wilson stated that the advertising committee is planning to resume the campaign about the middle of this month, as the members judge that the time is ripe to secure many of the visitors to the coast who are thronging in on trains and automobiles.

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce will participate in the San Fernando Valley exposition that is to be held at Burbank September 9 to 15, and will prepare an exhibit of local products that will be placed in the booth that will be set aside for this city.

Advocate College
The directors endorsed a resolution submitted by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce asking that the sub-tropical horticultural college be transferred from Berkeley to a suitable location in Southern California, under the direction of the Southern Branch of the University of California.

Attorney Bert P. Woodard's report on his negotiations to wind up the suit of Charles H. Stuart was received and adopted. With the settlement of the suit along the lines approved by the Board of Control the matter has been taken out of litigation and the funds that were held up pending the termination of the case are now released.

The resolution asking approval of the proposed merger of the Southern Pacific and El Paso & Southwestern railroads, that had been held over pending the action

DESCRIBE TRACT BY OLD METHODS

Metes and Bounds Given In Mortgage Executed In New Hampshire

That the ancient practice of describing property by metes and bounds, now in little favor here, is still the custom in certain eastern states, is shown by the following description of a farm, taken from a mortgage handed through the escrow department of the Glendale Savings bank, 104 South Brand boulevard.

When H. V. Adams, escrow officer of this bank, had read this description, he scratched his head and wondered whether he was living in the twentieth or in the sixteenth century. Examination of the instrument, however, showed it to have been executed September 18, 1922, in Carroll county, New Hampshire. The description follows:

The Cow Pasture
"A certain tract of land in the town of Freedom, county of Carroll, state of New Hampshire, situated upon the highway leading from Cushing's Corner to Watson's Hill, and is a part of the George W. Chase farm, bounded as follows:

"Beginning on said highway at land of Elmer E. Harmon and running westerly by the wall dividing this tract from said Elmer E. Harmon land to the field formerly owned by Christopher B. Chase and now owned by Elmer E. Harmon; thence running northerly by the wall separating this tract from the land of said Harmon as far as his land extends and terminating at the field formerly owned by Christopher B. Chase and now owned by Elmer E. Harmon land in a straight line to the southwesterly corner of the wall separating the brickyard field from said cow pasture; thence northerly by the wall dividing the cow pasture from the brickyard field to the point where the wall turns a right angle and runs northerly; thence northerly by said wall dividing said field from said pasture to the next right angle in said wall; thence running by said field, the meadow field and the school house pasture, so called, to said highway; thence southerly by said highway to the point begun at.

Right of Way
"Also a well of water and a right of way to said well, also a right to roads the same and the pipe that leads from said well to the buildings. Said grantee is to keep said well covered. This well is situated in the pasture across the road from the house on the east side of the highway.

"Reserving a right of way across the first mentioned tract of land beginning on said highway in front of and easterly of the barn and running by the path or road through the pasture to the brickyard field, the meadow field, and the school house pasture as heretofore used and as now built and maintained."

For those who think that descriptions of real property in California are complicated, Mr. Adams recommends a careful study of the above. "And what if the cow pasture should be moved?" he wants to know.

Tires Are Punctured As Nail Keg Bursts

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Nails and tires make a poor combination, as forty motorists residing in Wilmington are ready to testify. A truck loaded with nails was slowly climbing the Pacific avenue hill in that community when one of the kegs burst from the jolting, permitting nails to scatter along the street for a distance of four or five blocks.

Traffic was tied up for about an hour while police officers and a crew of workmen from the Automobile Club of Southern California swept the street. One or more tires on forty cars suffered punctures, according to the officers.

Silver Tea Will Aid Club Building Fund

LA CRESCENTA, Aug. 6.—Mrs. Viola Waddell will entertain the members of the La Crescenta Women's club and their friends with a novel pit barbecue at her home at 1229 East Wilson avenue, in Glendale, on Thursday, August 7.

The affair is to be a silver tea for the benefit of the La Crescenta Women's club building fund, and Mrs. Waddell has arranged an attractive and somewhat unusual program for her guests. There will be a poultry fair, where everyone must come prepared to spend nickels and pennies, and they are therefore asked to have a plentiful supply ready.

Mrs. G. Reed, concert singer, will give her numbers in costume. Mrs. Reed spent years on the Orpheum circuit, and was quite a favorite with her audiences. Mrs. Harcourt, who was a member of one of the leading opera companies of this country, is also going to sing. Mrs. MacDonald, curator of the music department of the local club, will be the accompanist for the singers. Mrs. Mary B. Darrow will give some original numbers, and Miss Elizabeth Talbot Martin will dance. Mrs. Waddell expects to have a harpist; also a reader from the Cummock School of Expression.

Five Year Search Ends

RUSSELL LAWRENCE and his mother are happily reunited after a long separation. The boy disappeared from his home in Brighton, Mass., in 1919, and was found again in Chicago.

Middle West Is Hard Hit by Big Floods

Pond du Lac would be flooded. Summer homes along the Milwaukee river were being swept away today as the river was slowly rising.

The section in the direction of Prairie du Chien, Wis., was recovering from the terrific rain and hail storm which wrecked small buildings, uprooted trees, flattened crops, flooded valleys and paralyzed the railroad service here late yesterday. More than 150 tobacco fields were seriously damaged by the hail.

The rain played havoc through northern Indiana also, blowing limbs from trees in many cities and towns and flooding the streets.

After two days of grilling heat, one of the worst downpours in years struck Chicago, flooding a thousand residential and business cellars and blocking street car and vehicular viaducts leading into the downtown section. As the weather bureau was announcing that 2.72 inches of water fell in the course of last night's three-hour rainfall, a second one, equally as intense, struck the city and environs about 8 o'clock today. Thousands of dollars in merchandise stored in cellars was ruined.

Heat Hits New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—New York sweltered today in the first real heat wave of the season. At 11 a. m. the mercury was at 85 and crawling toward 90.

The weather man promised relief, saying thunder showers were in sight for this afternoon. Millions slept in the parks, on roofs and on the beaches last night. It was estimated 25,000 slept at Coney Island.

Heat Wave Broken

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 6.—The heat wave that has held this city and vicinity in its grip since Sunday was broken early today by a heavy downpour of rain which sent the thermometer tumbling from 93 to 80. Records received throughout Missouri and Kansas said heavy rains were falling and general relief from the heat had resulted.

'Million Dollar' Rain

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 6.—The intense heat wave that has covered the state of Iowa for the last three days, claiming two victims in Des Moines, was broken today by a "million dollar rain." The temperature tumbled 14 degrees to 76. The rain was general throughout the state.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 6.—The heat wave, which for three days has kept St. Louis sweltering in temperatures which have averaged 90 degrees during daylight hours, today had claimed three victims. Overcast skies and a half-hearted breeze which carried a hint of thunderstorms as the day wore on, brought the first relief from the torrid temperatures today.

month, or as soon as I can find a suitable house here."

Mr. Wood reached Glendale yesterday morning and appeared before the members of the committee appointed to consider applications. The members of the committee were: Frank L. Fox, chairman; C. W. Ingledue, George B. Karr, P. J. Hayselden and L. H. Wilson. Last night he appeared before the board of directors and was unanimously chosen.

His work at Oakland, as western manager of the American School of Honesty, kept him in close touch with the Chamber of Commerce work and merchants, as the school is a business credit service installed largely through merchants' associations and Chambers of Commerce. In this work he was associated with Roscoe D. Wyatt, former manager of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, and former president of the California Association of Commercial Secretaries. Mr. Wyatt will take over the work of the school, Mr. Wood said.

Kiwanis Member

Mr. Wood is a member of and the first secretary of the Kiwanis club of Marinette, Wis., and organizer and first secretary of the Isaac Walton League of Wisconsin, a branch of the national league which publishes "Outdoor America." He is a personal friend of Will H. Dill, president of the league, who is now spending a prolonged vacation trip in California. Mr. Wood is also a member of the Elks, and belongs to the Blue lodge and chapter in Masonry.

He numbers among his personal friends Col. C. E. Simmons, new director of the Community Chest campaign in Los Angeles, formerly managing director of the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco, and Prof. E. C. Cottrell, who holds the chair of economic research at the Stanford university, and is conductor of the California School for Commercial Secretaries.

Fire Protection for Canyons Is Planned

P. J. Hayselden, chief of the Glendale utility, Angeles Forest Protection association, yesterday went over the Verdugo canyon, Kenneth road and Sycamore canyon sections of Glendale, on a scouting expedition, accompanied by Stuart Flintham, county forester; J. A. Graves, his assistant; C. G. Dunwoody, president of the Angeles Forest Protection association, and Leo Lang, first assistant chief of the Glendale utility.

Among the topics discussed were patrols, guards, firebreaks, trails and equipment. Mr. Hayselden stated that the county will back the Glendale utility to the limit, and that the association is assured it will have adequate protection to guard against any emergency that may arise in the months before the rains can be expected.

Plan to Build Cabin At Mountain Resort

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Phelps of 535 North Kenwood street, who are summering at Big Bear Pines, are in Glendale for a short stay. Big Bear Pines is located between Big Bear and Baldwin lakes, and, according to Mr. Phelps, is an ideal place, with such attractions as delightful weather, fine fishing and good roads. They are planning on building a cabin there. Many Glendale people have purchased cabin sites there.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 6.—Law enforcement circles here were stirred by the statement of J. Harper Shoop, federal agent, that 10,000 are operating in Los Angeles. Shoop has recommended the employment of fifty additional dry agents in the city.

COMMENT That's All

Warning To Autoists The Deadly Cigarette Actors Take Risks Bridges Are Needed

By Gil A. Cowan

Santa Barbara is going to celebrate "Old Spanish Days" next week and invites all of California to participate in the program which starts Sunday and gets better each day, according to the press agent's advice.

For those who want to enter into the historical and romantic life of the state there is nothing better to do than visit Santa Barbara, a beautiful city by the sea with ample accommodations for the camper and good hotels and restaurants.

But a word of warning should be given the motorist traveling north through the precincts of Santa Barbara county. An emergency ordinance has been passed by the Board of Supervisors banning the throwing of lighted cigars, cigarettes or any flaming matter from vehicles.

Tehama county inaugurated the regulation to prevent mountain fires and there is the assurance that if smokers comply with the regulation they cannot be blamed for blazes, many of which are started by other means.

For instance, a rolling stone started a blaze in Santa Barbara county recently, it having been blasted loose by a road construction gang.

Also, broken glass magnifying the sun's rays is known to be the cause of fires this year.

Resolutions were presented last night at a session of the Pacific Coast association of Fire Chiefs in Pasadena favoring legal measures which will prohibit the smoking of cigarettes in forest reserves.

Fire Chief George Wallace of Modesto, who made the original motion that such a law be enacted, asked the prohibition of all "tailor-made" cigarettes, but it was modified at the suggestion of Chief E. F. Koop of Pasadena.

It has been observed that the cigarette stub is more dangerous than the match because it lies smoldering where thrown and does not start a fire until the careless person who threw it down has gotten away from the scene.

All is not fun making motion pictures these days. Richard Talmadge injured himself internally while leaping into a moving motorcar, a part of a thriller he was staging.

But Ben Turpin made a burlesque of the situation, it would seem, when he skidded on a grease spot in the garage and broke a small bone in the ankle. All of which delays his filming the travesty on "The Virginian" entitled "The West Virginian."

Something new in the way of motor vehicle regulations seems necessary and legislators going to Sacramento will do well to consider school bus drivers, inspecting cars and developing traffic controls. Also, the state should make mandatory the building of bridges on the part of municipalities where traffic is greater than the capacity.

For instance, Glendale is being choked at the Glendale boulevard bridge across the Los Angeles river and inasmuch as the improvement falls upon the metropolis, it is taking its own sweet time in planning an adequate structure. Further, the Los Feliz Road bridge is a menace to public safety, and that, too, is the fault of Los Angeles which annexed territory which it now seemingly is unable to properly develop with highways and bridges.

Special weakness in isolated stocks at the beginning of the day's session did not have an unfavorable influence on the balance of the market. Atlantic Refining and Pressed Steel car were the most notable in this group, though Cuyamel Fruit was not long in joining the procession. Atlantic Refining was weak on reports that the directors might vote to reduce or pass the dividend next Monday.

Rails were once again in the background, though price developments were generally constructive. It was reported that further conferences are taking place in the Van Sweringen merger, though progress from this stage is expected to be slow. Pittsburgh and West Virginia gained a lap on the other merger stocks by selling up 3 1/2 points to a new high at 63 1/2 today. New York Central was active near its recent high and Lackawanna pushed through to a new high above 133 on further rumors of impending stock dividends.

NEW YORK CLOSING

L. A. EXCHANGE

By Southland News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The stock market was subjected to another test today, equally as severe as the one which closed yesterday's session. Industrial and business news developments were uniformly favorable, particularly those emanating from the steel and textile industries. Conditions were thus favorable for more realizing sales of active industrial and railroad stocks and selling pressure in the first three hours was quite heavy. Shortly after the noon period buying orders were seen to be on the increase and prices strengthened, many stocks going forward to higher levels than that of the previous close.

Special weakness in isolated stocks at the beginning of the day's session did not have an unfavorable influence on the balance of the market. Atlantic Refining and Pressed Steel car were the most notable in this group, though Cuyamel Fruit was not long in joining the procession. Atlantic Refining was weak on reports that the directors might vote to reduce or pass the dividend next Monday.

Leopold, Loeb Going Insane, Says Expert

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—Both Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb have "disordered personalities" and have been steadily developing for years mental tendencies that ultimately would have landed them both in an insane asylum, according to Dr. Bernard A. Glueck, former Sing Sing psychiatrist, who testified today in the trial of the young colleagues for the brutal kidnapping and murder of 14-year-old Bobby Franks.

Dr. Glueck did not use the phrase "insane asylum," but, stripped of scientific verbiage, that is what his conclusions stated. Both boys, he said, have been for years developing "profound paranoid tendencies" leading to "a definite paranoid psychosis."

The American Society of Psychiatrists recently substituted the word "psychosis" for "insanity" in its official dictionary of terms.

A reward of $50 will be paid persons providing the authorities with information leading to the arrest of the culprit who have been responsible for hill fires, it is said.

CHAPTER XX

Men would fall in love with her, too; all sorts of men. He thought of her swift, touching humility when she had fanned that he was angry with her. Somehow he liked to remember it, to let his thoughts dwell upon it.

The next day he could not wait to see the Colliers; and because he had been thinking about them so much and was so conscious of a change in his feelings for them, it seemed odd to him to find them so placidly unstirred. It was Sunday, a sweet and fragrant Sunday full of warm breezes and the deep shadows of new foliage upon new grass. They had been to church, but they were back, and in household gingham now, and Hilary's unflagging energy had decreed that this was the day to carry out some long-cherished plans for the front garden.

It was a small garden, but delightfully sheltered by the old brick wall on two sides, and by the house that had been the "Carolan kitchen," and the side wall of the big Carolan mansion on the others. There were two or three magnificent trees in it, trees now in rich leaf, and fluttering in the morning sunlight with birds; there was an enormous cherry tree, a giant elm, a plum tree just losing its snowy bloom, and several stocky old lilacs that showed fragrant masses of lavender and white blossoms between their clean, heart-shaped leaves.

Hilary directed the raking, digging, hauling. Her idea was to clean the old brick path, obliterated for a generation, and to establish a certain old table under the elm where she and Dora might have many a summer breakfast and supper. The spring morning was warm, Craig's face grew wet as he worked, and Dora's soft, straight, fly-away locks clung to her white forehead.

The earth was wet and soft from recent rains, weeds yielded easily, and presently a great heap of them lay wilting fragrantly in the sunshine, and Hilary's rake brought order and beauty under the elm. The damp earth, neatly scored by the rake's teeth, dried in a pale brown crust over the furrows, the sprawling lilacs were tied into sheaves, and a sunbeamed delicately into mossy corners that had been hidden by the rank false shoots of the roses.

Dora went into the kitchen, and presently Craig stood below her at the front door, drinking eagerly from a tin dipper of cold water. Hilary, panting, waited in the sun-flecked path, and surveyed them contentedly.

"Now when the vines fall into place," she summarized, "and the lilacs don't look so stiff, and when we get that old blue tablecloth washed, Butterfly, and the chair mended—I'll see old Digs about that at the factory tomorrow—then I think it'll be simply adorable."

"And for afternoon tea?" exclaimed Dora, sucking a pricked finger. "When the shadows begin to fall—"

Craig, refreshed, sat down on the doorstep, panting, and Dora tenderly tickled the remainder of the water into a window box. The tussle with tough old fibrous vines and heavy roots had left the man comfortably tired; he was as enthusiastic as the girls over the picture of those summer breakfasts here in the delicate shadows of mellowed old wall and towering trees. He wondered, flexing a sore hand thoughtfully, how many other gardens, possessing these old gardens, had seen in them similar possibilities.

"How about washing our hands and lunch?" he suggested, hopefully.

"What I was thinking was," Hilary answered, readily, "that it's one o'clock now. Now suppose you go home to your lunch, and we'll have something to eat, and clean up, and Butterfly can get in her practice—one hour, anyway. And then you come back, at about four, and we can have a drive, and then our first supper here—wouldn't that be fun?"

Craig agreed to the plan contentedly; it was characteristic of these young creatures that they brimmed with plans. If it were only to persuade the mother of some unknown village child into a visit to the doctor, they had a fashion of interesting him and involving him profoundly.

Their poverty shamed him, and their poverty over and over again. The few dollars that would have meant a taxicab, a telegram, an extra railway fare, they simply did not have. Upon the rare occasions of their going into Philadelphia they might retie into shaves, and a sunbeamed delicately into mossy corners that had been hidden by the rank false shoots of the roses.

Dora went into the kitchen, and presently Craig stood below her at the front door, drinking eagerly from a tin dipper of cold water. Hilary, panting, waited in

Views and Theatres News Notes

"Why Men Leave Home" is divulged most entertainingly at the tent theatre of Murphy's Comedians on Stocker street, Casa Verdugo. The location is between Brand boulevard and Central avenue. The curtain rises each night at 8 o'clock sharp, states J. A. Menard, manager, but those who wish to select their seats may come as early as 7:15 o'clock.

The author of this popular and clever comedy is Avery Hopwood, one of the most successful of American playwrights. He makes marriage the subject of much choice humor, revealing the secret of why a man can be a grouch at home and a "regular dear" at the office.

Manager Menard of Murphy's Comedians wishes to assure showgoers that this play is clean throughout and appeals to the youngsters as well as their seniors.

"I remember we drank about two quarts of hot chocolate," mused Butterfly, her eyes smiling.

Craig did not smile. He thought of this girl of eighteen, guiding the little girl home with the courage that seemed to be part of her, lighting the dark, wintry house, mixing chocolate, cutting bread, and feasting at last, after the long, tiring day, and he could not smile. It was not fair! It was not fair that he, a strong, big man, could in her place have gone into half-a-dozen New York or Philadelphia banks or hotels, identify himself, leisurely cashed a check for one hundred or one thousand dollars, and turned away with no more concern than that the incident had been a stupid delay. Somebody ought to look out for little girls like this; he wondered what any one of the big associations, the Red Cross, or the Y. W. C. A., would have done for these little gentlewomen in distress? But, of course, they could not have helped, here. It would be too easy for impostors to tell such a tale as this.

The warm spring days went on. And with every one of them he felt himself drawn more and more away from the old life he had known in the city, and closer and closer to these new influences. He said to himself that even now it would be simple enough to break the Mount Holly ties, yet day after day he felt himself hungering for a sight of the two sisters, for their little budget of news, for his share of their lives. And day after day the dinners with the Dwyers and even with his own dignified and intelligent mother and father, in New York, became less interesting, less vital; he found himself, in the middle of a formal dinner, or seated behind the author of this popular and clever comedy is Avery Hopwood, one of the most successful of American playwrights. He makes marriage the subject of much choice humor, revealing the secret of why a man can be a grouch at home and a "regular dear" at the office.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND BUNTY'S FORGET

One day, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping past the eleven and twelve cent store, Mr. Cheese, the little mouse gentleman, who wrapped up groceries and other things behind the counter, crept to the door and called:

"Uncle Wiggily, I wish you'd come in here just a moment."

"What's the matter?" asked the bunny gentleman, who was hopping along to seek an adventure.

"Are there a lot of ant ladies in your sugar, or are Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow playing tag behind the molasses barrel?"

"Neither one!" laughed Mr. Cheese, the mouse gentleman grocer. "But Baby Bunty is in here and she has her forget with her."

"Her what?" cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise.

"Her FORGET!" chuckled Mr. Cheese. "She says her memory is the thing she forgets with, Mrs. Wiggible, the lady duck, sent Baby Bunty to the store to get something, but instead of getting it Bunty is forgetting it. She can't remember what it was Mrs. Wiggible sent her for. I thought perhaps you could help."

"I'll try," offered Uncle Wiggily. He found Baby Bunty, the cute little rabbit girl, sitting on the counter, looking sad.

"Can't you remember what Mrs. Wiggible told you to get, Bunty?" asked the bunny.

"No, Uncle Wiggily," replied Bunty, serious like, and said, "I can't."

"Was it sugar?" asked Mr. Cheese.

"No," said Bunty, shaking her head. "If it had been sugar I would have thought of lollipops and then I would have remembered. It isn't sugar."

"Is it salt you want?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No," replied Bunty. "If it had been salt I would have thought of peanuts, and then I would have remembered."

"Was it butter?" asked the mouse gentleman.

"No," sighed Bunty. "If it had been butter I would have thought of bread and I would have remembered."

"Perhaps it is bread you should get, and you may have forgotten to remember butter," ventured Uncle Wiggily.

"No," said Bunty, with a long breath, "it wasn't either bread or butter." Just then, down the street, a land organ monkey began playing "Hey diddle-diddle, the cat and the fiddle, the cow jumped over the moon. The little dog laughed to see such sport and the dish ran away with the spoon."

"Oh, now I remember! Now I remember!" joyfully cried Baby Bunty. "Moon—spoon—spoon moon—that's it! Now I remember!"

"But I don't sell moons or spoons!" laughed Mr. Cheese.

"No, but when I think of moon I remember spoon. And when I think of a spoon I remember oatmeal, 'cause you eat oatmeal with a spoon!" laughed Baby Bunty. "That's what I want Mrs. Wiggible—ten cents' worth of oatmeal. Oh, now I remember! I'm so glad!"

"Well! Well!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, as he twinkled his pink nose. "That's a queer way to remember oatmeal, to think of the

some perfumed and bare-shouldered woman at the play, lost in a dream of what was going on in the little reconstructed garden under the elm trees in Sugarhouse Lane.

Oh, night, under those trees, Hilary and Dora sat until very late, talking. It was a smothering hot night in early June; the day had been cruelly oppressive everywhere, and before supper the girls had gone up the river to the bridge, with a hundred or more exhausted neighbors, for a swim.

INSTALLATION OF SEWERS STARTED PIPES FOR WATER MAINS DELIVERED

Burbank's Disposal Plant Is
First Task on Program
Of Contractors

System Will Be Installed
In Near Future, Says
Official Report

BURBANK, Aug. 6.—The work of installing the sewer system is now well under way by the James Construction company, who have established headquarters at 324 East San Fernando boulevard, in charge of E. B. Hendrickson.

The first work consists of excavating for the disposal plant in the southwestern part of the city. The excavation will be 60 feet long, 24 feet wide and 10 feet deep. In this will be constructed a concrete tank of that dimension.

Gravity Method
At the Flower street lifting station there will be a concrete tank 10 feet square and 12 feet deep. The sewage in this part of town will be carried by gravitation to this tank. From there it will be forced by means of a pump to what is called the Scott road station.

The Varney street station which will consist of a concrete circular tank 25 feet in diameter and 15 feet deep, which will also be carried by the means of pumps to the Scott road station, which will be a concrete tank 40 feet long, 15 feet wide and 30 feet deep. From this station the sewage will be pumped to the final disposal plant near the corner of Pioneer and Empire streets.

Buys Dairy Cows

According to W. F. Anderson, of the California Certified Cattle company, his partner, Harry Lutge, is on his way to Burbank from Wisconsin, with three carloads of fine Guernsey dairy cows. Two of these cars will be taken by the Jessup Ideal Certified dairy in this locality and the other car will be taken by the Adair Certified dairy on Ventura boulevard. Mr. Anderson says that many fine dairy cattle are now being shipped into this locality to be used in the building up of some of the herds which were destroyed in the campaign against the foot and mouth disease. He says that practically all of the owners of the slaughtered cattle have received reimbursement from the federal government, but will probably have to wait until the state legislature meets before they get their money from the state.

Honor Chicago Guest With Garden Party

TUJUNGA, Aug. 6.—Miss Cecile Murphy of Chicago was honored recently at a garden party given by Miss Antoinette Zoellner at the Zoellner country home, Manzanita and Walnut drive, Tujunga. Miss Murphy has been the guest of Miss Zoellner in Los Angeles and several social affairs have been given in her honor.

A buffet dinner was served at 6 o'clock in the garden among the beautiful shrubbery and fountains. A musical treat was given by the guests by the Zoellner quartet, well known in Los Angeles musical circles. The party later adjourned to the Garden of the Moon pavilion for dancing.

Among the guests were: Gertrude Cohen, Helen Cerise, Gertrude Jones, Ruth Schaffner, Ellen Andrews, Beulah Barnes, Florence Harris, Helen Wilson Holden, Dena Miller, Mabel Zoellner, Ruth Zoellner, Mrs. Joseph Zoellner, sr., Earl Meeker, I. Hennessey, F. Dean, E. True, L. Verbeck, E. Ripley, Gaylord Beaman, John Kelly, E. Herron, Cyril Rockett, Amandus Zoellner, Joseph Zoellner, sr., F. Brown, B. Webb, Frank Harris, J. Willink, L. E. Jones, M. Davidson.

Select Locations to Install Fire Hydrants

TUJUNGA, Aug. 6.—Locations for sixty-seven fire hydrants to be installed in the Tujunga-Sunland fire protection district have been determined by Deputy County Fire Warden Baker. The installations will be made by the Haines Canyon Water company under contract and H. B. Lynch, president of the water company, has stated that he will install forty of the total number at the earliest possible time, probably before the first of next year.

The hydrants vary from 2 to 10 inch main connections at strategic points throughout the district. The county fire warden's office will determine the order of preference in which the connections will be made. No decision has yet been reached on the purchase of a fire engine for the district, although the advisory committee is considering three types of pumps that have recently been demonstrated in Tujunga and Sunland.

EAGLE ROCK, Aug. 6.—The 16-inch water mains which are to be laid along Colorado boulevard and will connect with the Garvanza mains have arrived, according to notification received from the bureau of power and light, Los Angeles, and are soon to be laid.

Water will be supplied through the huge pumping plans which have been installed at Garvanza with a view to relieving the shortage in the Eagle Rock district.

These plants consist of two units of 2,150,000 gallons per day each. They form a decided addition to the city's equipment, for supplying water and will cause a vast change in conditions in Eagle Rock upon the laying of the larger mains.

Carry More Water

It is pointed out that with the 16-inch mains replacing those now existing, a much larger volume of water can be carried and greater pressure will be afforded the distribution systems in the hill district.

The permit for the first unit of the Eagle Rock bowl has been taken out at the local city hall. The drive for funds to complete this section of the great amphitheatre planned was carried on here some weeks ago. The estimated cost of this first unit is $15,000.

The Greek theatre, to be constructed adjacent to Occidental college, will cost about $35,000 when all units are completed. Eagle Rock residents are subscribing the funds for the work.

Boys Camp Out

Bruce Howard, Ernest Galpin, and Parker and Robert Held, all of Eagle Rock, were among the boys who went to Camp West Fork, Mt. Wilson, over the weekend. They were under the direction of Dudley Fitch, choir director of St. Paul's Cathedral of Los Angeles.

Mrs. M. T. Burrows, of St. Louis, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Heger of Fair Park avenue. Dr. Burrows will come here later. The Burrows expect to settle in or near Los Angeles.

AT LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA, Aug. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. C. Haskins, Mrs. B. Foy and Mrs. Mary B. Darrow were guests at the Girl Scout camp at Goff Island during the first day of the encampment.

The La Crescenta branch of the Los Angeles county free library loaned 781 books during the month of July, although this is the height of the vacation season coming into the valley that the past month alone twenty-nine new applications for borrowers' cards were filed in the local library.

Mrs. Val Findlay of East Alturas entertained with a luncheon party for her two daughters, Violet and Little Miss Nancy. Those present were Virginia Haskins, Constance, Betty and Jean Angier, Billy Haskins and Elizabeth Talbot Martin.

Mrs. Mary B. Darrow, who has been spending the week-end at Laguna Beach, was the luncheon guest of Mrs. Ward Van Dusen at her beach home.

Mrs. Van Dusen returned home to La Crescenta Valley yesterday to attend to business matters, but will leave for the beach at the week-end.

Letters received from Miss Marguerite Hauber, who is in Seattle, state that she is very busy studying science of music, education of man, music education and expression. Miss Hauber will return to La Crescenta valley, according to her present plans, some time in September, to fill her position on the staff of the music department of the U. S. C., southern branch.

Mrs. T. B. Moog writes she is enjoying her motor trip up the coast as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Drake of Oak Knoll, Pasadena. The trip will be terminated by a visit at the Pasadena home of the Drakes, after which Mrs. Moog will return to her La Crescenta home some time in September. Mrs. Moog also writes that while in the northern part of the state the party will stay at the beautiful Del Mar home of the Drakes.
